THE OREGON CLINIC ANNOUNCES ADDITION OF A PLASTIC SURGERY DIVISION

Addition of Group Expands Resources for Oregon Clinic Patients
In Portland with Drs. Webber, Canepa and Bartholomew

Portland, Ore., -- May 1, 2010 – The Oregon Clinic, one of Oregon’s largest private specialty physician practices is pleased to announce the addition of a new plastic surgery division. The three-physician group joined the Oregon Clinic on May 1.

The plastic surgery physicians are Bruce R. Webber, MD, FACS; Clifford S. Canepa, MD, FACS; and Samuel Bartholomew, MD. The Oregon Clinic, Plastic Surgery Division brings a wide range of medical and surgical expertise including general and reconstructive plastic surgery, aesthetic plastic surgery and hand surgery.

“The Oregon Clinic is proud to have the addition of this highly respected, experienced and skilled group of physicians,” stated Craig Fausel, MD, president and gastroenterologist with The Oregon Clinic. “The new plastic surgery division expands options for The Oregon Clinic’s patients and referring physicians in the metropolitan area of Portland,” he said.

The plastic surgery physicians will continue practicing at Providence St. Vincent Medical Center and Providence Portland Medical Center. Offices are located at 9155 SW Barnes Rd., Suite 532 (503) 488-2344 and at 5050 NE Hoyt, Suite 221 (503) 488-2345.

All three physicians are board certified by the American Board of Plastic Surgery. Both Dr. Webber and Dr. Canepa completed general surgery and plastic and reconstructive surgery residencies at Oregon Health Sciences University (OHSU). Dr. Canepa completed a surgical fellowship in hand surgery from Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester, NY. Dr. Bartholomew completed a general surgery residency at OHSU and a residency in plastic and reconstructive surgery at the University of California, Davis Medical Center.

“It’s a privilege for us to join The Oregon Clinic,” stated Dr. Webber. “We look forward to collaborating with other specialty physicians to provide the highest quality, comprehensive and compassionate care to our hospital and clinic patients,” he added.
