The Oregon Clinic Welcomes New Physician to Northwest Surgical Division

Portland, Ore., Feb. 10, 2010 – The Oregon Clinic's Northwest Surgical division in Salem welcomes Dr. Juan Rodrigo Oyarzun Marquez. Dr. Oyarzun is board certified by the American Board of Surgery and the American Board of Thoracic Surgery. His special interest lies in beating heart coronary bypass surgery. Most recently he was a physician at the Samaritan Cardiovascular Surgery Clinic in Corvallis, Ore.

Dr. Oyarzun received his medical degree from the University of Chile, School of Medicine in Santiago, Chile in 1985. He completed his general surgery internship at Mount Sinai Hospital and North General Hospital in New York, N.Y. Dr. Oyarzun completed his cardiothoracic surgery fellowship at Beth Israel Medical Center in Newark, N.J.

Originally from Santiago, Chile, Dr. Oyarzun lived in New York City for 15 years before moving to the West Coast. He is the author of numerous publications and frequently presents research findings at medical conferences and assemblies. Dr. Oyarzun is also an instructor at Oregon State University and the Clinical Assistant Professor of Surgery at Western University of Health Sciences.

Dr. Oyarzun now lives in Salem with his two children and enjoys tennis, skiing and riding his motorcycle.

"My primary focus is always for the welfare of my patients, whether it's in the clinic or in surgery. As a cardiac surgeon, my goal is to perform surgery time after time with the same precision and enthusiasm that brought us our first successes," Dr. Oyarzun said.
